

FIG 1

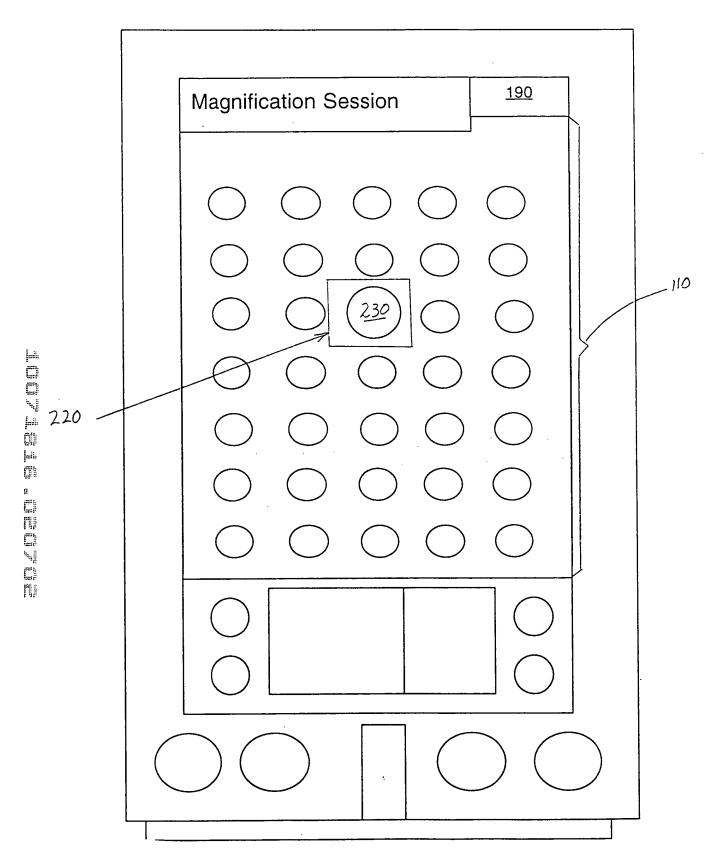

FIG 2

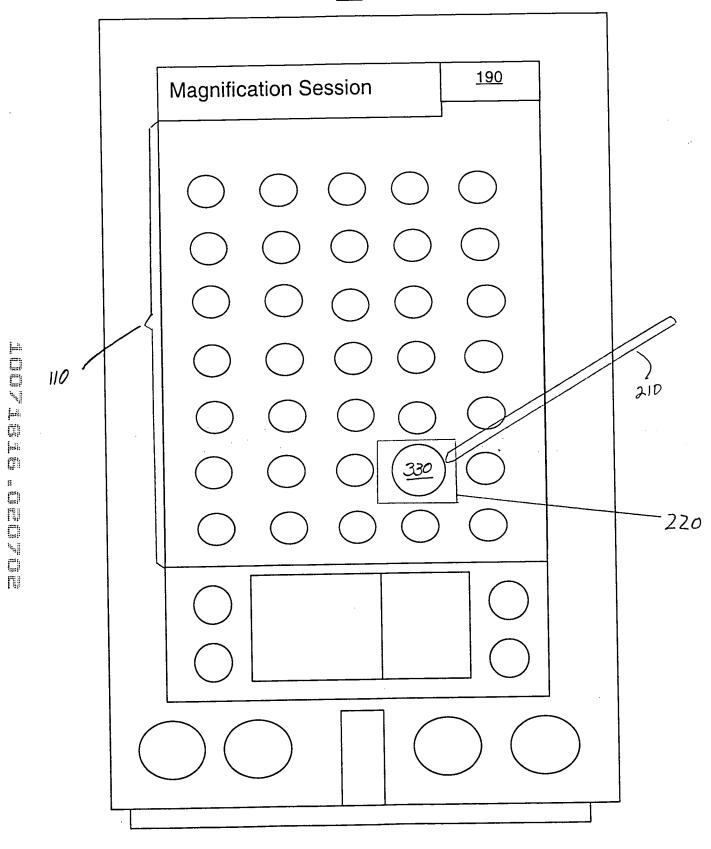

FIG 3

 190 Text This is a text of a down loaded page from the Internet. The font used is small and the text is very condensed, However, due to the 110 size of the font used a user is unable to read the information and the images are very small. A user needs to have a device to be able to read a paragraph of interest or legibly look at some images of interest. A magnifying glass can help the user to see the test and look at clear image of the material received through the Internet This is a text of a down loaded page from the Internet. The font used is small and the text is very condensed, However, due to the size of the font used a user is unable to read the information and the images are very small. A user needs to have a device to be able to read a paragraph of interest or legibly look at some images of interest. A magnifying glass can help the user to see

FIG 4A

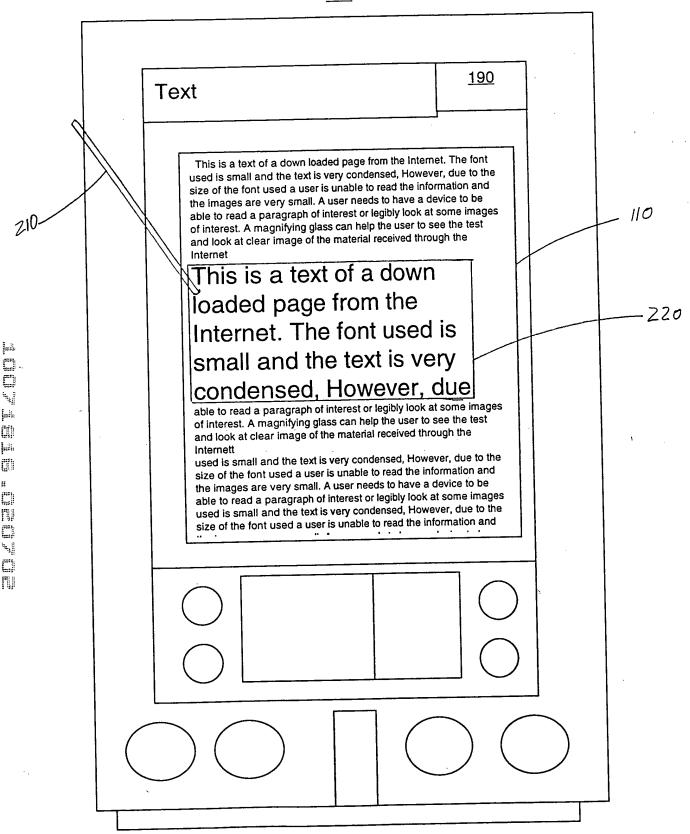

FIG 4B

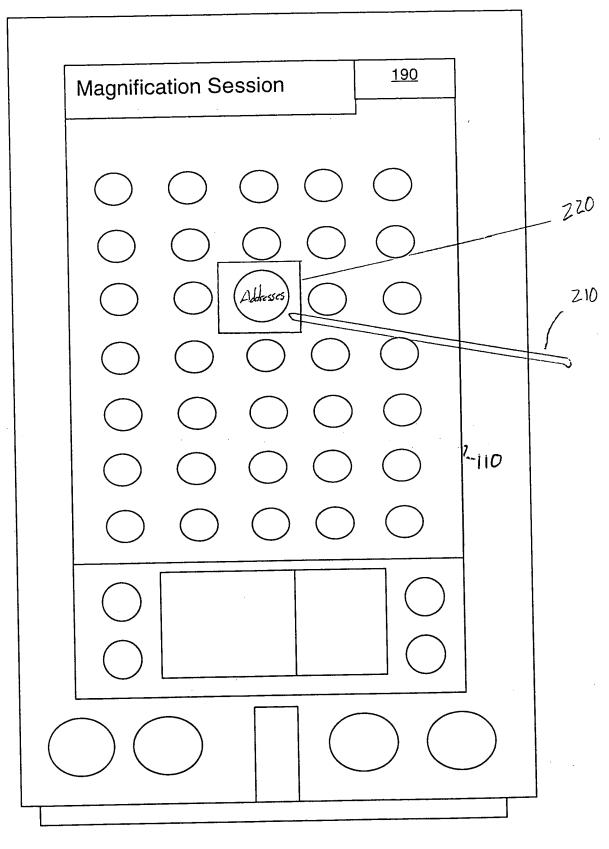

FIG 5A

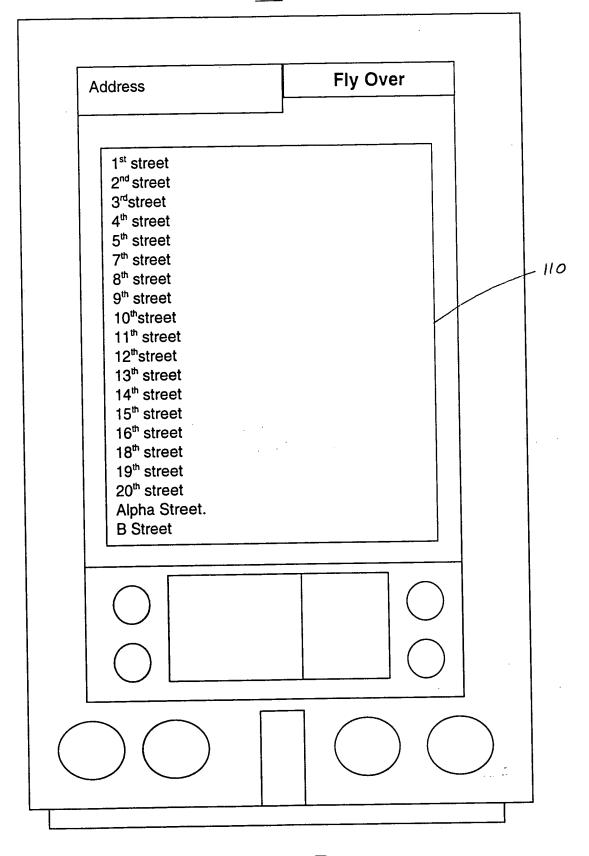

FIG 5B

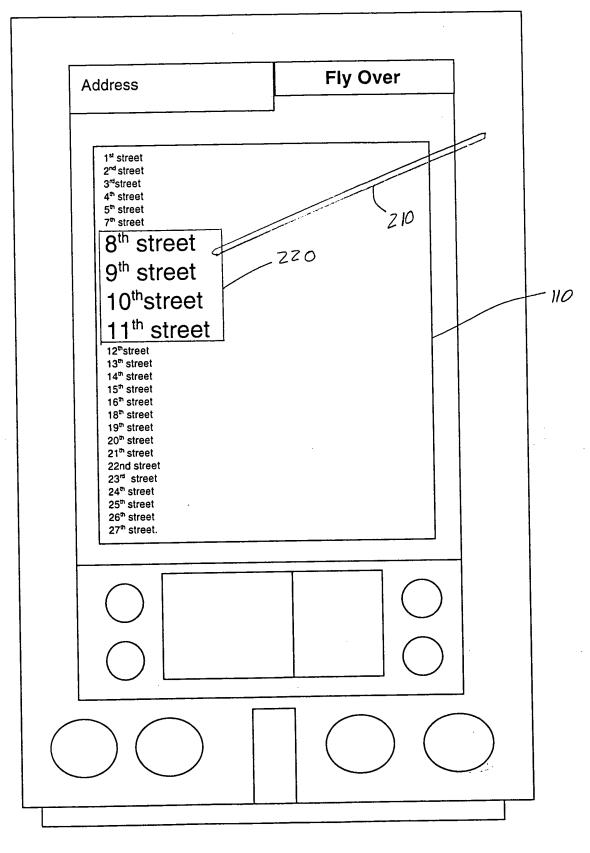

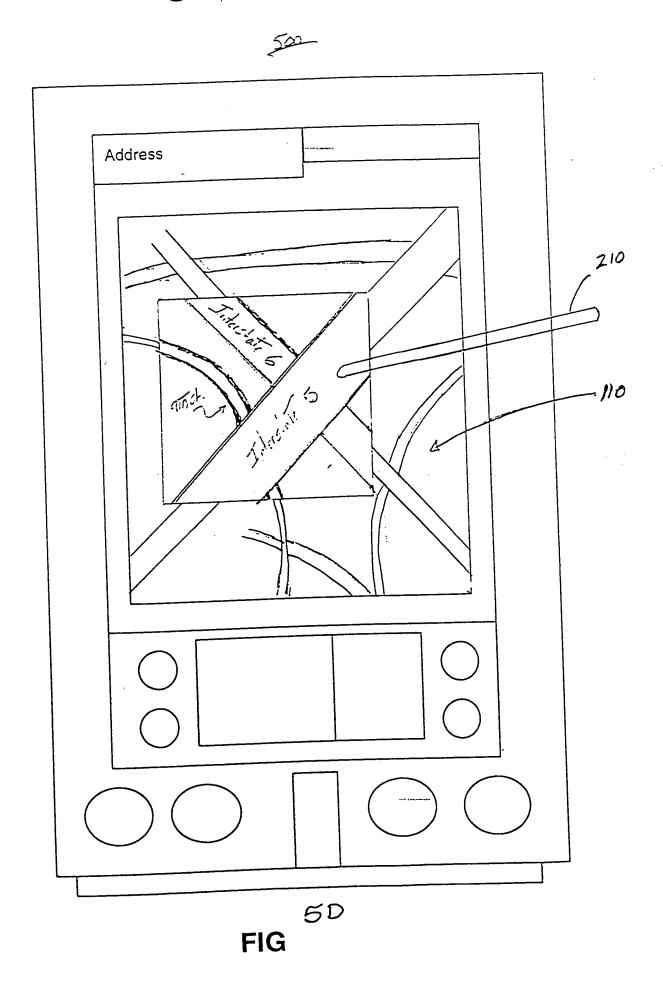

FIG 5C

600

Display a plurality of items on a touchscreen of a portable computer device. Register a user input via the touchscreen to enter a magnification display mode Provide a magnification area within the touchscreen, where the magnification area provides a zoomed-out view of items within the magnification area with respect to the items outside the magnification area. Control a location of the magnification area with respect to the touchscreen in accordance with a movement command received from a user. Remove the pointer to terminate the session.